

WIN A $5,000 SCHOLARSHIP & GET PUBLISHED

BY WRITING & ILLUSTRATING A CHILDREN'S BOOK

WHAT:

A SCHOLARSHIP COMPETITION

High school students are invited to write and illustrate a children's book that discusses the topics of tolerance and diversity.

Submissions should provide a story that children (in grades K-5) can understand and identify with, as well as promote a greater understanding of different cultures, lifestyles and beliefs. Students may work individually or as a team (up to four members).

WHO:

The contest is open to all currently enrolled 9-12th grade students within the following counties in Southern New Jersey: Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester, Ocean and Salem.

HOW:

Visit www.bnaibrith.org/diverseinds for detailed submission information. Or call 888-838-2499 or email diverseinds@bnaibrith.org.

DEADLINE:

Submissions must be received or postmarked by Friday, March 14, 2014.

SUPPORTED BY

B'nai B'rith International

Diverse Minds Youth Writing Challenge

ATLANTIC CITY ELECTRIC REGION (SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY)

FIRST PRIZE

$5,000 college scholarship
& professional publication of your book

SECOND PRIZE

$2,000 college scholarship

THIRD PRIZE

$1,000 college scholarship

SCHOOL PRIZE

The school of the first-place winning
Student will receive a $500 grant

TEACHER PRIZE

The teacher who oversees the creation of the first place winning submission will receive a
$500 stipend to use for classroom materials